Program title: Formation Session for Parents and Guardians: Family Engagement in Education

Program duration: 1.5 hour

Target audience: Parents and guardians assisting children in distance learning

Platform: Zoom App

The Center for Human Research and Development Foundation Inc. is committed with DEPED's goal that learning must continue amidst the pandemic. In our effort to provide help in the continuous implementation of the Learning Continuity Plan, we will conduct Webinar for Parents with the theme "Promoting Family Engagement towards Students' Academic Excellence". This is a 1.5-hour session designed for parents and guardians helping the young in their self-learning modules and other forms of distance learning modalities.

Rationale: The mental load of parents and guardians are significantly high today. Looking at the principles on gender division of labor, productive and reproductive work is difficult to balance especially during this pandemic. Engaging their child to learn can be really tough in the absence of proper knowledge and guidance. This formation session is designed to address this concern by creating awareness and providing helpful tools on family engagement in education.

The following are set as session objectives:

1. Identify how one's experience affect perspectives on distance learning;
2. Present usual situations at home manifesting varied child's behaviors; and
3. Discuss possible strategies as intervention towards active learning engagement.

Training Matrix

10 mins. Preliminaries (Prayer, Orientation, Recognition of participating schools and Introduction of the Speaker)

50 mins. Presentation

25 mins. Open forum (Question and Answer)

5 mins. Session synthesis

The only limitation of this program is the use of online platform. We will be using Zoom App that can accommodate 500 guests. Thus, participating schools must ensure that their target audience have strong internet connection.
