CONVENTION
2021
6-15 AUGUST

August 3, 2021

ESTELA L. CARIÑO
Regional Director
Cordillera Administrative Region
Department of Education

Dear RD Cariño,

We invite you and the educators and students of DepEd Cordillera Administrative Region to be part of the Global Peace Convention 2021, our premier global forum for leaders, practitioners, and activists across the breadth of disciplines and sectors. With your participation and engagement, GPC 2021 seeks to be a catalyst for inspired, innovative action so that together we can solve problems and build a future that uplifts the entire human family.

COVID-19 has upended our lives in a myriad of ways. We have all experienced the frustration of lockdowns, and for many, the anguish of loss. We are reminded of our vulnerabilities and the precious value of family relationships. In the wake of the chaos, we are confronted by intractable problems that continue to plague the human family.

Today, many nations are grappling with severe political polarization. At the same time, the rise of authoritarianism is pushing us towards the precipice of a new Cold War. Violence, extremism, and egregious human rights violations, most significantly related to religious freedom, have continued unabated. Such entrenched problems exploit and amplify divides of race, religion, and ethnicity; we must address these before they further undermine peace, security, and the very basis of global order.

Now more than ever, we need to come together around a vision that uplifts our common humanity and shared identity, recognizes universal principles, and affirms time-honored values to chart a new path forward. Beyond all the things that divide us, we all belong to the one human family under God. Guided by this vision, we can build and engage an amazing network of moral and innovative leaders who tackle problems together, concretely demonstrating that our diverse world can also be united in a shared commitment to building ethical societies and a peaceful world.

To participate in the Global Peace Convention 2021, you will need to register at:

The corresponding side of innovative leadership harnesses humankind's natural creative need to advance and develop the human condition and explore fresh and creative ideas to solve the many problems of our time.
